Fiscal Note

Nolan Langweil, Principal Fiscal Analyst

H.847 (Act 170) – An act relating to peer support provider and recovery support specialist certification

As Enacted

Bill Summary

The bill would require the Office of Professional Regulation (OPR) to regulate peer support providers and recovery support specialists. For OPR to implement this, it would cost approximately $25,000 in staff time, technology costs, community outreach costs, and expenses associated with rulemaking.

The bill would require that the Secretary of State appoint six advisors to the Director of OPR for matters relating to peer and recovery support. Four of the advisors would not be State employees and entitled to per diem compensation under 32 V.S.A. § 1010 for attendance at any meeting called by the Director. Costs for per diem compensation would be nominal (less than $2,000 per year). The other two advisors, one from the Department of Health and one from the Department of Mental Health, would be acting within the scope of their positions and not receive per diem compensation.

The bill would also lower initial licensure and certification application fees from $115, as currently in statute, to $50.<sup>1</sup> These fees would then increase to $75 on July 1, 2027. The bill would also set the biennial renewal fee at $50. While the true number of peer support providers and recovery support specialists in Vermont is currently unknown, based on anecdotal data fiscal year 2026 revenue from application fees is estimated to be between $10,000 and $20,000. Revenue could increase in future fiscal years as more people are trained and certified in these professions.

Background and Details

Peer Support Providers – While the actual number of peer support providers practicing in Vermont is not known, it's estimated that at least 169 peer support providers are currently employed at designated agencies and peer-run entities across the state.<sup>2</sup>

Recovery Support Specialists – According to the Department of Health, as of June 31, 2023, there were 116 recovery support specialists working in Vermont recovery centers. There is continued demand for the certification training; this workforce is likely to grow.<sup>3</sup>
