H.237 – An act relating to prescribing by doctor-level psychologists

As Passed by the House¹

Bill Summary

The bill proposes to authorize prescribing by doctor-level psychologists. According to the Office of Professional Regulation (OPR), the bill would have minimal fiscal impacts.

Fees

Psychologists looking to obtain the prescribing specialty would be required to pay a $100 fee upon initial application for the specialty.² Currently there are no renewal fees for specialties.

Appropriations

While it is anticipated that there would be some start-up costs for OPR to implement (approximately $4,000), this can be covered within existing funds.
