VERMONT ATTORNEY GENERAL’S OFFICE
APPLICATION FOR GRANT DISTRIBUTION
FROM THE FUND FOR CONSUMER PROTECTION AND EDUCATION - 2013 CYCLE

SUMMARY REQUEST: Vermont requests $9,000 to fund a 3-month pilot prevention project to assess the impact of posting a warning advertisement on the Google search engine to guide Vermont consumers away from internet sites offering illegal high-interest loans. We propose using the Google AdWords on-line advertising service to craft a consumer warning that would be positioned adjacent to the internet loan site advertisements. We chose Google because it is the site with the broadest audience and will hopefully provide the greatest number of contacts with consumers.

NATURE OF CONSUMER PROBLEM: All too often, consumers in financial distress turn to internet high interest loans. And, not anticipating or understanding the ramifications of the loans’ usurious interest rates, the consumers then find themselves in an even deeper cycle of revolving debt. In addition, by filing the internet applications, consumers expose themselves to scam debt collectors and potential identify theft.

Vermont law requires that all lenders be licensed with the State Department of Financial Regulation. Vermont Licensed Lenders Act, 8 V.S.A. § 2201. Vermont also has statutory limits on the rate of interest charged for money lending. See 9 V.S.A. § 41a(b)(1) & (b)(5) (setting the interest rates at 12-24% per annum for all loans involving money or credit). As a result of these laws, there are no "payday" loan businesses physically located in Vermont.

However, high-interest loans are marketed nationally to our consumers through television advertisements and internet sites. These internet lenders are rarely licensed to lend in VT. Working with the VT Department of Financial Regulation (DFR), the Vermont Attorney General’s Office has procedures in place when we learn that an unlicensed lender has made a high-interest loan to a Vermont consumer. We contact the lender to notify it of the licensing requirement and our usury laws. Unlicensed lenders are then listed on the DFR website to warn other consumers. Despite these efforts, and other efforts to educate consumers through our websites and newsletters about the inherent problems and illegality of these loans, Vermont consumers in financial distress are still applying for these loans on-line. In 2012, over 80 consumers contacted the AGO Consumer Assistance Program to request assistance with problems resulting from their applications for internet loans. And, we know that there are many other consumers in this situation who did not contact us. The reported problems include inability to pay the usurious interest rates (frequently 50% and above), exorbitant fees, and debt collection harassment.

This proposal is directed to testing the impact of having a consumer warning adjacent to the internet loan advertising sites. The VT Department of Financial Regulation supports this
This proposal is part of a comprehensive effort undertaken by the Vermont Attorney General to address illegal internet lending. In 2013, Vermont made unlicensed lending a violation of the Consumer Protection Act, imposing financial liability on the unlicensed lenders, their processors, and others who provide substantial assistance when they know or consciously avoid knowing the lenders are unlicensed. The Office is pursuing settlements with multiple lenders and processors, and is in the process of notifying media of known unlicensed lenders operating in Vermont and the media's potential liability if they run advertisements on behalf of unlicensed lenders.

BUDGET AND BUDGET RATIONALE: All of the $9,000 in requested funding would be paid to Google AdWords to fund the warning advertisement. Google AdWords drafts the advertisement based on the financial bid submitted by the entity buying the advertisement. Based on its analysis of the competitors' sites, in this case the internet lenders, Google AdWords will use the key words that its analysis shows are being used by internet lenders to attract consumers to their sites. The placement of the warning is based on the price paid; Google AdWords staff has advised that the internet loan lenders spend significant funds to position their advertisements. (Ad prices vary depending on the bids submitted by competitors.) Google AdWords staff has advised that a $100/day price should purchase a placement at the top of the ad space adjacent to the sites at the right side top of the page.

The $9,000 grant request represents a bid amount of $100/day for 90 days. Google AdWords staff has indicated that they analyze the effectiveness of the advertisement or warning by the number of "clicks" that are made on the ad by users. They stated that they need a minimum of 60 days to analyze the effectiveness of the ad and that during that time they will update and move the advertisement based on their findings. We are requesting a 90 advertising day period in order to provide a slightly longer period of exposure. Google AdWords will provide a report, which we could provide to the Committee and other offices of attorneys general, reviewing the effectiveness of the placement of the advertisement and also advise as to more effective strategies for placement if relevant. Google AdWords will not provide a copy of the advertisement/warning until the bid is received. I have attached a screen shot of a sample internet loan advertisement page (see Attachment B); the proposal would be to place our warning on the top right hand side. We would request that the warning contain a link to our Consumer Assistance Program website on the high cost of illegal internet lending. (Current webpage attached (see Attachment C). We are in the process of adding information to this page to provide improved contact information for financial counseling and legitimate loan opportunities.)
