The Boys and Girls club runs the summer rec programming and the rec department gives us some scholarship money to target “at risk” kids. Over 60% of the members of the Boys and Girls club are on the free and reduced lunch program and these youth do not, traditionally have the opportunity to attend rec summer camps. We have been able to target and scholarship a certain number of youth on free and reduced and with additional funds we would be able to reach many more of these youth in Brandon and the surrounding area and scholarship them to our 6 week summer program. We would ask for $40,000 and use that money to scholarship low income youth to our summer camp and would also use any money left over to feed ALL of the Boys and Girls club members a hot meal five days a week during the school year.

The Teen Bridges Project will build connections between at-risk youth and their communities, using art as the bridge. The goal of the project is to engage at-risk youth in trusting relationships with local artists/mentors who will guide them through a creative project of their choosing. During each year of the three year project, around 300 teens will be paired with local artists and artisans through community teen centers across Vermont. Their completed projects will be presented to their community at the end of the project year. Examples of arts on which teens in the Teen Bridges Project may focus include: storytelling/poetry reading; writing and performing skits; painting and drawing; music and dance; open mike/amateur night events; photography; pottery; comedy skits; and culinary arts, to name a few. Photographic displays, paintings and drawings and ceramic pieces may grace the communities public buildings; theatrical and comedic performances may be presented at churches, town halls and other public arenas; musical performances, open-mike and amateur night events can be presented at local schools; and young chefs will prepare community meals at teen centers, churches and senior centers across the state.

Our Teen Futures Program targets all of these indicators. It is a genuinely comprehensive and proactive effort designed to help middle and high school youth develop into healthy, responsible, self-supporting adults. Key components of the program include: A Job Club, College Club, Supper and Science activities, Academic Support, and a Healthy Choices program.

The St. Albans Recreation Department has created an afterschool program called “Afternoon Hoops” directed at youth who are not involved in other extracurricular activities, but would like the opportunity to get together, play basketball (that’s their current and over riding interest) in the afternoon at City Hall Gym in downtown St. Albans. This provides both a social and physical outlet for kids that are not involved in organized sports but would like the opportunity to “just play” that might otherwise be heading home to play video games, or hang out downtown. St. Albans City has seen high increases in crime and drug use in our community. Keeping kids busy doing good things in a place they are...
Twilight Program: This program couples an evening schedule of classes with a daytime work lab experience in which at-risk students are paid with the goal of students earning their high school credit and at the same time, developing work skills for future successful employment. To that end, students must meet workplace attendance requirements, assessments for basic math, reading, and writing skills, dress code, substance abuse screening, and training for proficiency in a variety of soft skills.

A. Mentoring, $23,000
   Rutland High School will establish a mentoring program for at-risk youth. The hours of operation of the program will be before, after, and during the school day, Monday through Friday. It will serve all high school students who have been placed there by the principal. Referrals can be made by teachers, parents, guidance counselors, academic mentors, or the students themselves. RHS would by hiring two mentors. Students would be scheduled into the tutoring program as an elective class.

B. Action in the Middle, a Project of the Tapestry Program, $27,800
   The "Action in the Middle" (AIM) project will provide expanded learning opportunities to adolesices in grades 7 through 9th. AIM will integrate experiences in the arts, wellness, career choices and community service opportunities. These opportunities will be expanding the small very successful week long camps the Stafford Tech Center has been running for three years. The project will continue to offer academic tutoring in literacy and math for students who are significantly below the standard for their grade level that has existed for ten years. The extended learning time will become fixed, thus helping students master their course work. Whenever necessary or possible, an academic mentor may seek to check in on their mentees in other classes.

This project is designated for 12 community-based projects inclusive of two statewide projects consisting of 12 - 15 sub-projects. All projects will share the goal of delinquency prevention to be achieved through school and center-based academic, career, and enrichment activities for middle, high, and out of school youth with high risk factors for delinquency, school failure, under-achievement, and poor life outcomes. Many projects include food and transportation as a requirement to enable youth and families who live in the targeted rural communities to participate. Most programs utilize evidence based practice and curricula from national models or state-based practices such as VT Department of Education research. Primary activities include Life Skills, health, fitness, cooking, communication and conflict resolution, parenting, financial literacy, academic support, summer camp, after-school enrichment, arts, sports, career exploration, work readiness skill development, youth employment, and leadership skill development. These activities will take place in settings where middle and high school youth congregate: schools, teen centers, parent child centers with high school component, and Boys and Girls Clubs. DCTAT Delinquency Prevention measures will be used in addition to local measures including changes in GPA, knowledge, skills, and abilities of project participants. NCA/NCF.

The St. Albans Recreation Department has created an afterschool program called “Afternoon Hoops” directed at youth who are not involved in other extracurricular activities, but would like the opportunity to get together, play basketball (that’s their current and over riding interest) in the afternoon at City Hall Gym in downtown St. Albans. This provides both a social and physical outlet for kids that are not involved in organized sports but would like the opportunity to “just play” that might otherwise be heading home to play video games, or hang out downtown. St. Albans City has seen high increases in crime and drug use in our community. Keeping kids busy doing good things in a place they are welcome can sometimes be the difference maker in the choices youths make.

The Boys and Girls club runs the summer rec programming and the rec department gives us some scholarship money to target “at risk” kids. Over 60% of the members of the Boys and Girls club are on the free and reduced lunch program and these youth do not, traditionally have the opportunity to attend rec summer camps. We have been able to target and scholarship a certain number of youth on free and reduced and with additional funds we would be able to reach many more of these youth in Brandon and the surrounding area and scholarship them to our 6 week summer program. We would ask for $40,000 and use that money to scholarship low income youth to our summer camp and would also use any money left over to feed ALL of the Boys and Girls club members a hot meal five days a week during the school year.

The Teen Bridges Project will build connections between at-risk youth and their communities, using art as the bridge. The goal of the project is to engage at-risk youth in trusting relationships with local artists/mentors who will guide them through a creative project of their choosing. During each year of the three year project, around 300 teens will be paired with local artists and artisans through community teen centers across Vermont. Their completed projects will be presented to their community at the end of the project year. Examples of arts on which teens in the Teen Bridges Project may focus include: storytelling/poetry reading; writing and performing skits; painting and drawing; music and dance; open mike/amateur night events; photography; pottery; comedy skits; and culinary arts, to name a few. Photographic displays, paintings and drawings and ceramic pieces may grace the communities public buildings; theatrical and comedic performances may be presented at churches, town halls and other public arenas; musical performances, open-mike and amateur night events can be presented at local schools; and young chefs will prepare community meals at teen centers, churches and senior centers across the state.

Dear Ms. Walcott:

Congratulations on your recent award. In establishing financial assistance programs, Congress linked the receipt of Federal funding to compliance with Federal civil rights laws. The Office for Civil Rights (OCR), Office of Justice Programs (OJP), U.S. Department of Justice is responsible for ensuring that recipients of financial aid from OJP, its component offices and bureaus, the Office on Violence Against Women (OVW), and the Office of Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) comply with applicable Federal civil rights statutes and regulations. We at OCR are available to help you and your organization meet the civil rights requirements that come with Justice Department funding.

Ensuring Access to Federally Assisted Programs

As you know, Federal laws prohibit recipients of financial assistance from discriminating on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, or disability in funded programs or activities, not only in respect to employment practices but also in the delivery of services or benefits. Federal law also prohibits funded programs or activities from discriminating on the basis of age in the delivery of services or benefits.

Providing Services to Limited English Proficiency (LEP) Individuals

In accordance with Department of Justice Guidance pertaining to Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 42 U.S.C. § 2000d, recipients of Federal financial assistance must take reasonable steps to provide meaningful access to their programs and activities for persons with limited English proficiency (LEP). For more information on the civil rights responsibilities that recipients have in providing language services to LEP individuals, please see the website at http://www.lep.gov.

Ensuring Equal Treatment for Faith-Based Organizations

The Department of Justice has published a regulation specifically pertaining to the funding of faith-based organizations. In general, the regulation, Participation in Justice Department Programs by Religious Organizations; Providing for Equal Treatment of all Justice Department Program Participants, and known as the Equal Treatment Regulation 28 C.F.R. part 38, requires State Administering Agencies to treat these organizations the same as any other applicant or recipient. The regulation prohibits State Administering Agencies from making award or grant administration decisions on the basis of an organization's religious character or affiliation, religious name, or the religious composition of its board of directors.

The regulation also prohibits faith-based organizations from using financial assistance from the Department of Justice to fund inherently religious activities. While faith-based organizations can engage in non-funded inherently religious activities, they must be held separately from the Department of Justice funded program, and customers or beneficiaries cannot be compelled to participate in them. The Equal Treatment Regulation also makes clear that organizations participating in programs funded by the Department of Justice are not permitted to discriminate in the provision of services on the basis of a beneficiary's religion. For more information on the regulation, please see OCR's website at http://www.ojp.usdoj.gov/ocr/etfbo.htm.

State Administering Agencies and faith-based organizations should also note that the Safe Streets Act, as amended; the Victims of Crime Act, as amended; and the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act, as amended, contain prohibitions against discrimination on the basis of religion in employment. Despite these nondiscrimination provisions, the Justice Department has concluded that the Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA) is reasonably construed, on a case-by-case basis, to require that its funding agencies permit faith-based organizations applying for funding under the applicable program statutes both to receive DOJ funds and to continue considering religion when hiring staff, even if the statute that authorizes the funding program generally forbids considering of religion in employment decisions by grantees.

Questions about the regulation or the application of RFRA to the statutes that prohibit discrimination in employment may be directed to this Office.
Enforcing Civil Rights Laws

All recipients of Federal financial assistance, regardless of the particular funding source, the amount of the grant award, or the number of employees in the workforce, are subject to the prohibitions against unlawful discrimination. Accordingly, OCR investigates recipients that are the subject of discrimination complaints from both individuals and groups. In addition, based on regulatory criteria, OCR selects a number of recipients each year for compliance reviews, audits that require recipients to submit data showing that they are providing services equitably to all segments of their service population and that their employment practices meet equal employment opportunity standards.

Complying with the Safe Streets Act or Program Requirements

In addition to these general prohibitions, an organization which is a recipient of financial assistance subject to the nondiscrimination provisions of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act (Safe Streets Act) of 1968, 42 U.S.C. § 3789d(c), or other Federal grant program requirements, must meet two additional requirements: (1) complying with Federal regulations pertaining to the development of an Equal Employment Opportunity Plan (EEOP), 28 C.F.R. § 42.301-.308, and (2) submitting to OCR Findings of Discrimination (see 28 C.F.R. §§ 42.205(5) or 31.202(5)).

1) Meeting the EEOP Requirement

In accordance with Federal regulations, Assurance No. 6 in the Standard Assurances, COPS Assurance No. 8.B, or certain Federal grant program requirements, your organization must comply with the following EEOP reporting requirements:

If your organization has received an award for $500,000 or more and has 50 or more employees (counting both full- and part-time employees but excluding political appointees), then it has to prepare an EEOP and submit it to OCR for review within 60 days from the date of this letter. For assistance in developing an EEOP, please consult OCR’s website at http://www.ojp.usdoj.gov/ocrieeop.htm. You may also request technical assistance from an EEOP specialist at OCR by dialing (202) 616-3208.

If your organization received an award between $25,000 and $500,000 and has 50 or more employees, your organization still has to prepare an EEOP, but it does not have to submit the EEOP to OCR for review. Instead, your organization has to maintain the EEOP on file and make it available for review on request. In addition, your organization has to complete Section B of the Certification Form and return it to OCR. The Certification Form can be found at http://www.ojp.usdoj.gov/ocr/eeop.htm.

If your organization received an award for less than $25,000; or if your organization has less than 50 employees, regardless of the amount of the award; or if your organization is a medical institution, educational institution, nonprofit organization or Indian tribe, then your organization is exempt from the EEOP requirement. However, your organization must complete Section A of the Certification Form and return it to OCR. The Certification Form can be found at http://www.ojp.usdoj.gov/ocr/eeop.htm.

2) Submitting Findings of Discrimination

In the event a Federal or State court or Federal or State administrative agency makes an adverse finding of discrimination against your organization after a due process hearing, on the ground of race, color, religion, national origin, or sex, your organization must submit a copy of the finding to OCR for review.

Ensuring the Compliance of Subrecipients

If your organization makes subawards to other agencies, you are responsible for assuring that subrecipients also comply with all of the applicable Federal civil rights laws, including the requirements pertaining to developing an EEOP, reporting Findings of Discrimination, and providing language services to LEP persons. State agencies that make subawards must have in place standard grant assurances and review procedures to demonstrate that they are effectively monitoring the civil rights compliance of subrecipients.

If we can assist you in any way in fulfilling your civil rights responsibilities as a recipient of Federal funding, please call OCR at (202) 307-0690 or visit our website at http://www.ojp.usdoj.gov/ocr/.

Sincerely,

Michael L. Alston

Program Narrative

Project Abstract

This 2010 Congressional Earmark funding is designated for 12 community-based projects inclusive of two statewide projects consisting of 12 – 15 sub-projects. All projects have a shared goal of delinquency prevention to be achieved through school and center-based academic, career, and enrichment activities for middle, high, and out of school youth with high risk factors for delinquency, school failure, underachievement, and poor life outcomes. Many projects include food and transportation; requirements that enable participation in affected rural communities.
Most programs utilize evidence based practice and curricula from national models or state-based practices such as VT Department of Education research. DCTAT Delinquency Prevention measures will be used in addition to local measures including changes in GPA, knowledge, skills, and abilities of project participants.

Primary activities include Life Skills, health, fitness, cooking, nutrition and sexuality, communication and conflict resolution, parenting, financial literacy, academic support, summer camp, after-school enrichment, arts, sports, career exploration, work readiness skill development, youth employment and leadership skill development, and more. These activities will take place in settings where middle and high school youth congregate: schools, teen centers, parent child centers with high school component, and Boys and Girls Clubs.

Statement of the Problem

The VT FY2010 earmark is designated for school-based activities targeted to youth under age 18 who are deemed to be high risk for truancy, drop-out, substance use, under-employment and poor school performance. These are prevalent risks in the lives of youth who are poor, live in rural settings without access to necessary academic supports in their family or community, and who do not have access to enrichment opportunities that can help them to glimpse a larger, more diverse world than what they are normally exposed to.

Youth who are underachieving in school, disengaged in school and community, have few role models or mentors that can help them to see beyond immediate difficult circumstances are youth who easily give up on themselves, and worse, who often have little expectation from the adults.
around them to become who and what that they are capable of being as students, workers, citizens, and parents.

The twelve school and community-based academic tutoring and enrichment projects funded through this application will provide youth with the knowledge, skills, and abilities to function more capably, and often to feel, behave, and be seen by others as more capable young people.

Youth will have opportunities to explore and consider work and recreational opportunities and interests available to them now and in the future and will connect those opportunities to improved academic performance and substance-free leisure time.

Well known and published data in VT and nationally show a high correlation between poverty, low expectations of youth, and poor school performance, graduation rates, and involvement in the justice system. High rates of disengagement, learning challenges, parental substance abuse and incarceration, homelessness and hunger have devastating impacts on children’s school performance and opportunities. One of the communities to be served in this program reported that within it:

- 19.2% of households with related children under 18 live under the poverty line
- 24% of residents are high school graduates
- 16% of residents have enrolled in college

VT Department of Education comparisons of economically disadvantaged children to their economically stable peers in standardized math, reading, and writing scores across grade levels show marked - often 20% or more - score discrepancies for poor children and youth. Similar discrepancies are found in high school graduation rates. The VT DOE finds that boys are lagging farther behind their female peers in these measures.

Boys and Girls Clubs throughout VT report seeing marked increases in hunger among youth participants at after-school and teen center settings and are trying to respond with cooking and nutrition classes that offer dinner options to hungry youth (as reported to the VT Childhood Poverty Council, November, 2009).

In regards to evidence-based practices, the VT DOE is again sourced – their 2009 publication ‘Roots of Success: Effective Practices in VT Schools’ identifies school practices that create conditions in which students can and do excel against the odds of poverty and other social stressors. These conditions include key factors in schools deemed to be effective based on standardized test scores, improvements, climate, and graduation rates. Those characteristics are listed below and are mirrored in the strategies selected for the middle and high school enrichment programs selected for this award.

- The belief that all students can succeed
- The belief that school staff is ultimately responsible for students’ success and they must continually improve their practice
- Ongoing use of data to provide feedback to staff as well as monitor and support students
- A comprehensive and highly functioning support system for students who struggle academically, emotionally, behaviorally, or socially
- A supportive school climate that makes all students feel valued and safe
- Constructive relationships with families and family involvement in children’s learning
Multiple non school based sub-recipients use well known evidence based methodologies such as Boys and Girls Clubs and Big Brothers / Big Sisters Mentoring strategies.

This group of congressional earmark selections is more connected with and coordinated with the JJDPA Governor's State Advisory Group, the Designated State Agency, and the state agency responsible for services to children, youth and families than programs managed independent of the agency would be.

Program Objectives

Multiple poor life outcomes are associated with growing up in poverty and the inherent lack of opportunities that come of that poverty. Low school performance and emotional behavioral issues that are manifest in school settings are well connected to poor transitions to adulthood and low achievement in adulthood. This group of 2010 grant projects in VT is focused on expanding opportunity for middle and high school students academically, socially, vocationally, and through arts, sports, fitness, and other life skill enhancements. The large variety of projects funded will measure and report outcomes for hundreds of students related to school performance and skills necessary to successfully transition to adult functions of continued education, work, and citizenship, and parenting.

Performance Measures

DCTAT performance measures for twelve community-based projects (inclusive of two statewide projects) will be collated by the grant manager within the VT Agency of Human Services, Department for Children and Families. Performance measures will include numbers served, successful completions, changed knowledge, skills, and abilities, and other pertinent measures for DCTAT purposes. Sub-recipients will gather, assess, and report additional outcomes and data pertinent to their program e.g. school, mentoring, recreation or teen center and the data will be used as part of the sub-recipient’s own outcome measurement process with the grantee (AHS/DCF).

Each sub-recipient will submit quarterly reports to the grantee based on approved logic models that identify primary activities, outputs, and outcomes meeting standards for DCTAT reporting. The state grantee will collate these measures for semi-annual progress reporting.

The state grantee and manager of sub-recipients will include OJJDP-specified Privacy Certificates within each sub-recipient grant award and monitor activities as part of its standard grants monitoring process.

Project/Program Design and Implementation

This grant award to the VT Agency of Human Services, Department for Children and Families / AHS / DCF, will be fully passed through to 12 sub-recipients selected by VT Senator Bernard Sanders who chooses to have this department manage his delinquency prevention earmark selections to ease the burden on sub-recipients, OJJDP, and to enable relatively small awards for relatively small communities and regions. Without this process, many of these small, high-quality community programs would be unlikely competitors for a federal grant award. No costs other than that required for OJJDP training are allocated to the recipient, DCF.

Each sub-recipient provided an application and program overview to the Senator. The applicant has collected and compiled major program activities, outcomes, and budgets from each sub-recipient to enable this application. Following this application, the grant will be managed by a program manager who will train all sub-recipients in data measurement and Logic Model development as needed, and DCTAT Performance Measurement. The DCF grant manager will develop procedures for sub-recipients that will ensure Logic Models, appropriate budgets, and narrative to create sub-recipient awards that will meet State requirements including reporting that will meet the requirements of OJJDP.

The DCF grant manager will either train all sub-recipients in the use of DCTAT, or, more likely, compile all performance measures bi-annually in order to submit program reports to OJJDP. (sub)Funded projects will be required to submit quarterly reports to the grantee.

The majority of sub-recipients are wholly or at least partially using evidence based practice and programs in their activities. Those who are not will be coached as necessary to track and measure outcomes using the Logic Model and improve the clarity of their practices in the process.

The AHS /DCF grants managers and the majority of community sub-recipients are familiar with EBP, outcomes measures, and financial reporting requirements necessary to assure that this grant project is carried out capably and meets all standards.
Capabilities/Competencies

Grantee staff will consist of the grant manager, Heather McLain, who will oversee all sub-recipient projects via quarterly program and fiscal reports, annual site visits, and on-going communications as needed. The grant manager will be the contact point with OJJDP, with sub-recipients, and with the department’s business office that will handle quarterly fiscal reports on GMS. The grant manager will oversee all GMS program reports.

The project is a compilation of twelve community-based projects. Two of those projects are statewide and are to be managed by existing provider networks that this department is accustomed to working with and that are experienced in successful federal grants management from OJJDP and other sources. Those two agencies are the Washington County Youth Service Bureau, and the VT Parent Child Center Network. They are key partners in delivering youth services throughout the state and provide training and accountability within their networks that meet quality standards.

The application is submitted by the state Juvenile Justice Specialist of eight years, Theresa Lay-Sleeper who is experienced with requirements as needed and will be available to assist the incoming grant manager.

The DCF business office is accustomed to submitting quarterly fiscal reports and reporting methods.
The grant manager, Heather McLain is the primary point of contact. The authorized department representative is the Deputy Commissioner of DCF Family Services, Cindy Walcott.

Budget Narrative

General: the individual budgets of sub-recipients will be vetted and monitored by the grantee to assure appropriate expenditures.

Personnel: Approximately 75% of this budget is for the costs of summer camp, teen center & Boys and Girls Clubs, after-school, tutor-mentor, and youth counselor-in-training positions within the 12 projects.

Fringe Benefits: not all funded positions include fringe; instead they are matched with other funds, or enable stipends. Those positions allocating federal funds to fringe benefits use the formula standard in their programs.

Travel & transportation: a portion of this funds staff travel to site visits and meetings – relevant in projects that are statewide, multi-site. Most of this line item enables bus or other transportation for youth. Without transportation, these youth would not be able to participate in the programs. There is no reliable of available public transportation in VT. Mileage and transportation costs are based on state mileage rates of .50/ mile, daily bus driver and bus rental rates for summer camps.
Food: snacks and meals are provided to children and youth in many of the programs and enable students to participate without the distraction of hunger. Some programs include food as part of nutrition and cooking classes – life skills, or within a school-based book buddies mentor program. The budgeted funds are just a part of food costs for the projects.

Supplies and equipment: two large state-wide programs budgeted office supplies, and communication services based on pro-rated hours necessary to manage the projects. Most of this allocation is for sports equipment, art and recognition supplies delineated in project descriptions. This line item has been reduced from initial project budgets to enable grantee to attend the required OJJDP training.

Required training for OJJDP grantee: one grant manager will attend the training as required.
